The Declaration filed on June 02, 2004 under 37 CFR 1.131 has been considered but is ineffective to overcome the Remington et al (6,070,150) reference.

The evidence submitted is insufficient to establish a conception of the invention prior to the effective date of the Remington reference. While conception is the mental part of the inventive act, it must be capable of proof, such as by demonstrative evidence or by a complete disclosure to another. Conception is more than a vague idea of how to solve a problem. The requisite means themselves and their interaction must also be comprehended. See Mergenthaler v. Scudder, 1897 C.D. 724, 81 O.G. 1417 (D.C. Cir. 1897).

The exhibits filed failed to establish the conception of the claimed subject matter in the above application. Specifically, Exhibit 1 failed to teach the following items set forth in claims 127-202: It should be noted that both pieces of documentary evidence are listed as "Exhibit 1".

1. Payment information including a debit transaction.
2. Transmitting the payment information from the accumulator agency to a bank.
3. Transmitting the disbursement information from the accumulator agency to an intermediary. The information could have been sent directly from a payment agency (Bank) or from the employer.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
